Note: The indicated allowability of the subject matter of claims 1 and 7 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered references to Shibam (U.S. 6,315,960) and Roydhouse (U.S. 4,419,107).

Rejections based on the newly cited references follow.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-2 and 10 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - “caps” should be “cap” (claim 1, line 9);
 - “a top end cap” and “a bottom end cap” of claim 2 should be “said top end cap” and “said bottom end cap” since the elements are already cited in claim 1;
 - in line 3 of claim 10, it is believed that applicant intended to cross out “central” as in claim 4.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-3 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shibana (U.S. 6,315,960).

As shown in his figures, Shibana teaches a core (70 or 20) that is permeable (because of his open end and also because of opening 19); barriers (65, 64) alternating with filters (90, 91, 92 and granular carbon therebetween); top and bottom end caps (11, 13A or 61, 74), where the barriers are staggered for serpentine flow from the inlet to the outlet [as in claims 1-3 and 6-9].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.

Art Unit: 1723

3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 4-5 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shibana in view of Carlson et al. (U.S. 6,475,340 B1). Claims 4 and 10 have the limitations of the filter media being a combination of pleated filter medias surrounding the core and the second barrier and a granular media disposed between the barriers. Carlson discloses a pleated media that also includes a granular media, e.g. activated carbon (col. 13, line 17) [as in claims 4 and 10] and also a PTFE outer sheet (a polymer, col. 2, lines 45-46) [as in claim 5]. It is considered that it would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art at the time of the invention to have the pleated media of Carlson to replace the respective medias of Shibana, since Carlson teaches the benefits of a physical filtration media (col. 1, line 24) that can be used to remove a desired chemical species entrained in the fluid (col. 2, lines 2-4) and is strong and flexible (abstract). It would also be obvious to the skilled man, since pleating increases the surface area for filtration.
